To whom it may concern,

I'm a manager at Deloitte in the Oracle Enterprise Technology & Performance Consulting unit. I'm writing on behalf of Prina Shahi, a vacationer we've had the pleasure of working with for the past 4 weeks.

We began working with Prina in early January. She joined our team as a vacationer and has been involved with training and development. She has learned to use some of the technologies specific to our practice (SaaS UI, OIC, OTBI, ATP) and written the functional specification for a defect. The defect was that the business needed to be able to identify the serial numbers that were being shipped out from a 3rd party logistics warehouse for mobile devices, SIMs, Modems and other serialized SKUs. The solution required understanding of various transactions like Sales Orders, Transfer Orders and Direct Sales Orders that are used by TPG to issue material out and changing the columns of a report to accommodate serial number details for which Prina created a mapping sheet and a demo report using actual data.

In her placement, Prina has also used Oracle's SaaS, OTBI platforms to understand various core tables and its structure and wrote SQL queries to create reports. Additionally, she has effectively engaged with people inside and outside our business unit such as consultants, directors, and partners.

Throughout the internship, Prina demonstrated a strong commitment to learning about our business and a genuine interest in gaining valuable insights into the industry. She approached her tasks with interest, adaptability, and a strong work ethic, making evident her dedication to personal and professional development.

One of the key strengths Prina exhibited was her ability to quickly grasp complex concepts and apply them in the tasks assigned to her. Her analytical skills and attention to detail were particularly impressive, allowing her to contribute effectively to the tasks she was assigned. Moreover, Prina demonstrated excellent communication skills, both written and verbal, which facilitated seamless collaboration with team members.

Not only did Prina meet the expectations set for the internship, but she also exceeded them by proactively seeking additional responsibilities and demonstrating a proactive approach to problem-solving. Her positive attitude and willingness to take on new challenges were truly commendable.

I am confident that Prina possesses the qualities and skills necessary to thrive in a professional setting. She is a quick learner, a team player, and has shown a keen interest in our business throughout her placement. I wholeheartedly recommend Prina for any future endeavors and believe that she will be an asset to any team or organization.
